

Learning Studios

A Global Network of Design-Centered Classrooms

A Learning Studio is a place where participants define the problems they want to solve and design solutions to address them. Leveraging powerful technology from HP and Microsoft, students engage in activities and projects that expose them to skills and strategies such as design thinking, engineering, and digital communication.

Visitors to a Learning Studio will observe that participants are:

- Engaged in learning;
- Demonstrate ownership of their learning;
- Understand the value of taking on another perspective;
- Understand that systems and products could be designed differently; and
- Take action to improve their local and global communities.

In the Learning Studio, students develop important skills.

How We Engage

In 2016, Digital Promise Global collaborated with HP and Microsoft to pilot the Learning Studios. Now, schools can purchase a Learning Studios bundle including: cutting-edge technology and professional services; in person training; support through an online educator community; project guides and challenges; and virtual exchanges.

Solution	Description
Cutting-edge technology from HP and Microsoft	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Sprout Pro G2 by HP with Capture Stage• Dremel Idea Builder 3D40 for Education• HP ProBook x360 11 G1 Education Edition featuring dual Camera and Windows 10 Pro (Quantity 10)• HP School Pack 3.0 Licenses• HP Essential Charging Cart
Two day on-site professional training	The first day of training exposes faculty and IT staff to the features of these new tools. On the second day teachers will engage in a project-based dive into using these tools to facilitate student design-centered learning. (Training provided by Educational Collaborators)
Ongoing virtual support	Digital Promise Global provides ongoing support for up to five participating educators through an online community and resources space, including web-based training opportunities, teacher guides, project plans, and collaborative challenges to engage students. Digital Promise Global also connects students and teachers in virtual exchange and offers online access to instructional coaches.
